POST WORKER

The 29 June strike was a huge success. It showed the immense support for the campaign to defend the service, defeat the Business Plan, and win decent pay and conditions for workers. During our strike in many areas delegations from other unions came to picket lines. We call on our union to seek urgent talks with as many unions as possible so that future action can be coordinated with other strikes. We are prepared to strike alone, but will be all the stronger if we fight alongside others.
